

I am in strong support of allowing either a la carte selection of cable channels or at least significantly more option packages. We watch about 5 cable channels but must pay for 40. The cable company raises monthly charges by double digits each year under the guise of adding more channels which less than 1% of customers ever watch. In our area we have to have cable to see TV and $50 to $80 a month is very expensive for many people to watch a couple of educational shows.
